The Scottish ILF fund is re-opening again on 29th April 2024.

£9 million pounds from the Scottish Government will help up to 1000 more people in Scotland with complex disabilities to live more independent lives.

There are 32 local councils in Scotland. Fife is one of these.

Each local council has been told how many applications they can make to the new ILF fund.

68

Fife can submit 68 applications for people aged 16+ up until April 2025.

£800

The total cost of a person's care and support funded by the local authority must be more than £800 per week to apply for ILF.

Staff have a list of supported people in Fife who receive care and support of £800 per week or more.

These people will get a letter to let them know that the ILF fund is re-opening and to ask if they would like to know more about it.

Home visits will be arranged with people who reply asking for more information about the ILF fund.

An assessor will meet the supported person and/or their family to gather information for the application.

The online ILF application form can only be completed by a social work assessor.

Staff at ILF Scotland will read the application and decide if the application has been successful or not.

The supported person and the social work assessor who completed the form will be notified by ILF of the final decision and the next steps.
